

Your gift helps build the Legacy of Hope Memorial, a lasting tribute for donors like Daniel who gave so that others may live.

Daniel Perelman was 18 years old when he donated his heart, liver and both kidneys following a fatal plane crash. Now, his family keeps his memory alive by encouraging others to donate blood, do good deeds for others, and consider becoming organ donors. “If you can help just one individual and give them another 50 years of life, there’s no reason not to do it,” says Daniel’s father, Benny.

Now, Daniel’s family keeps his memory alive through Daniel Gives Back, a charitable organization that provides scholarship opportunities to students, organizes blood drives, hosts organ donation registration tables, and encourages people to do good deeds in Daniel’s memory.
